Details:

I am currently an NQT teaching at Glyn Technology Boys' School, London. I also taught Spanish up to A-Level at Fullbrook School last year. Fullbrook is a mixed comprehensive school where I was teaching some high-achieving sets. I have been marking coursework for Year 11 and 13 and preparing the students in Years 11, 12 and 13 for their oral exams in May 2006. I also conducted GCSE and A-level examinations in May 2006. At Fullbrook, I was also teaching some French lessons in Year 7 and a lower ability set in Year 9. I am also willing to go on a course to improve my French skills. I was a Tutor in charge of Year 9 students. I have found this role extremely enjoyable as I have spent time building a relationship with my tutees ans I have worked well along side my year group encouraging my tutees to get involved in year competitions. I believe that this role has helped me build up classroom discipline where I have gained respect from the pupils. I have also found my teaching at Fullbrook challenging and extremely enjoyable.
