details:

I have two years of experience teaching Spanish as a foreign language to English native speakers. I have been very well trained in how to teach my language to English native speakers, doing it entirely in Spanish from the very beginning. Most of my students have shown a significant improvement with this method, based on a highly communicative approach. It has shown to be very successful to motivate the students as it not only creates their need to communicate but also gives them the necessary tools to do so only in Spanish.
