details:

I am a tutor by profession and naturally patient with my students. I have worked as a college lecturer teaching management and physics to students up to degree and advanced levels respectively. I also have over five years teaching experience of tutoring students in Mathematics and Physics up to A- Level’s. Currently I am doing PhD in Business with Management from University of Plymouth and also working as a Teaching Demonstrator. My job involves helping the students who lack confidence and skills in management and identifying areas of courses that are particularly problematic for students so that support can be tailored appropriately.
I was always oriented towards the teaching profession. I chose teaching as my profession as it provides me an opportunity to apply my knowledge inspire the students and prepare them for the challenges of life. A teacher is the heart and soul of a class, the pulse that keeps a lesson lively and engaging. Teaching as a career is an exciting journey filled with challenges and rewards.
