Tutoring Experience: I have many times in the past helped many students achieve success in their studies in mainly Maths, Chemistry and Science

Also, I have taught several students who have scored very high marks in Mathematics, Chemistry, and Physics
Also, in the past, when I was at engineering school, I taught engineering students in the years below m
Tutoring Approach: My approach to teaching is essentially based on techniques that teachers I've found to be quite good in the past have used
Essential components include attendance, class participation, and attentiveness, grasping of method and finally homework and testing. I teach the technique, test understanding by testing the pupil, make corrections (if necessary) then set homework to check that the student has grasped the topic. I also feel it is important to recall a topic sometime down the line to ensure full understanding
